IN ASSOCIATION WITH THE WORLD PREMIERE OF
A MEASURE OF CRUELTY BY JOE CALARCO

*Made possible by Funding Arts Broward/
Knight New Work Award*

Mosaic Theatre is excited to produce its first world premiere play, as the theater has commissioned famed playwright Joe Calarco. A Measure of Cruelty (April 19-May 13) is inspired by actual events of 2009, when a 15-year-old boy was doused with rubbing alcohol and set on fire by four teenagers, a tragic event that impacted South Florida's local community and touched a nerve in our nation's conscience. A Measure of Cruelty will address the ongoing problems of teen violence and bullying, which continue to make national headlines. Mosaic's STOP! THE VIOLENCE Video Contest encourages students to stand up and express their feelings about the increasing problem of bullying.

WHAT'S IT ALL ABOUT?

We are looking for creative and innovative videos (2 to 5 minutes in length) from students that best communicate themes and issues associated with anti-bullying. Videos can be in ANY style you choose, so be creative! It can be a monologue, scene, song, illustration, animation, collage, dance – whatever medium YOU want. You are free to be as original as you want! Celebrity judges Louis Aguirre, Brett Loewenstern, and Joe Calarco will select three finalists who will receive great prizes, and the audiences who attend A Measure of Cruelty will vote for the top prize. Final results will be announced Monday, May 21, 2012.

WHEN IS THE DEADLINE?

You may submit your video between 9:00 AM EST January 23, 2012 and 5:00 PM EST April 2, 2012.

HOW DO I ENTER?

Send an email to videocontest@mosaictheatre.com with attached video file (or URL link to YouTube video) containing your full name, school name, school teacher, and a paragraph summary of your video entry.

WHO IS ELIGIBLE TO PARTICIPATE?
